Full Federal Aid

ST. PAUL, Minn., (AP)—Three National Guard units were ordered into the battle today against Minnesota's costliest flood in history, a major disaster which has driven an estimated 20,000 persons from their homes.

The raging Minnesota River continued its relentless destruction. The Mississippi was swelling, and smaller rivers throughout the state spilled over their banks.

President Johnson declared 39 counties a disaster area Sunday and promised full federal help. The federal aid will apply only to public facilities such as roads, bridges and buildings.

The Red Cross estimated 20,000 Minnesotans homeless. About 30 highways were closed by high water.

Late Sunday night, Gov. Karl Rolvaag ordered an engineers battalion on duty at Hutchinson, about 50 miles west of Minneapolis. The Crow River flooded at Hutchinson, driving 50 families from their homes. About 15 residential blocks and part of the business district were inundated.

Some heavy equipment used last week at Mankato, where the Minnesota River flooded severely, was ordered into Hutchinson. The machines will be used to build dikes and repair highways.

An infantry regiment was put on duty at Crookston, in northwestern Minnesota. Guardsmen worked through the night, evacuating persons whose homes were being flooded by the Red Lake River.

Another infantry regiment, from Minneapolis, was ordered to security duty in the Chaska area, about 20 miles southwest of Minneapolis-St. Paul, at 6 a.m. today.

Sandbagging and diking along the Minnesota River was the main effort at Chaska as the city tried to keep its sewage plant and new courthouse safe. About half the town was under water, and ripples lapped at the eaves in some sections.

Savage, about 15 miles downstream from Chaska, was next in line for the Minnesota's big push. Already one grain terminal was surrounded by water which had topped a dike. Another terminal was holding out with sandbag protection.

The Minnesota and Mississippi converge at St. Paul. A state of emergency was declared in the capital city by Mayor George Vavoulis, in anticipation of a crest 13 feet over flood stage. Crews shored up dikes with plywood extensions. The city's Union Depot closed just after midnight and most railroads involved transferred their operations to Minneapolis. Vavoulis said there was fear for the city's new $8-million industrial park.

Ice jams in the Mississippi north of Minneapolis caused a rapid rise. Residents of suburban Fridley began evacuating.

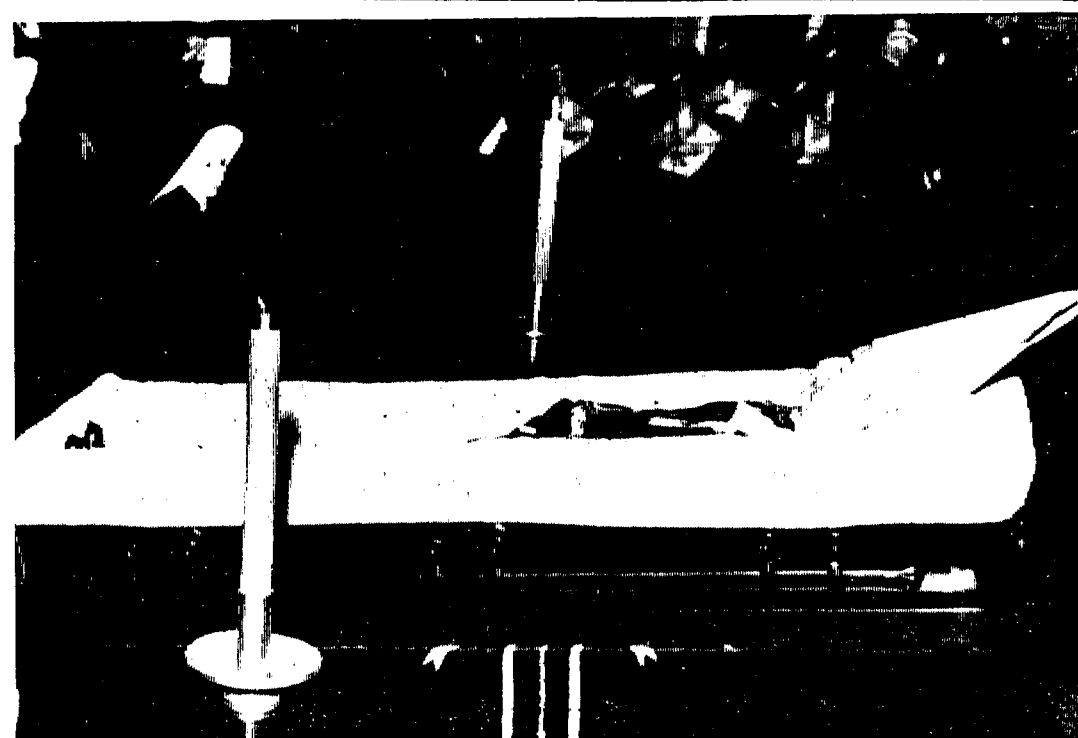

Says Adults Not Teens
Need Sex Education

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Adults—not young people—have the greater need for sexual education, maintains Dr. Lester A. Kirkendall, professor of family life at Oregon State University.

"Adults constitute the deprived group; they are the ignorant, they are the obstructionists," he told a weekend symposium at the University of California San Francisco Medical Center.

The symposium dealt with sex education for teen-agers.

Kirkendall asked, "Who is to teach?" and answered that, "Sex being what it is and humans being what they are," both teachers and learners will continue to be everyone.

First Teacher Gets Only Pen
Signs Education Bill
Near Childhood School

By FRANK CORMIER
JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson, sitting in the shadow of "this little school of my childhood," has signed into law a $1.3-billion education aid bill he says will bring "quality and equality" to schooling.

N. Viet Nam
Says 'No' To Peace Talks

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP)—North Vietnam has said "no" to President Johnson's offer of unconditional peace talks and derided his proposal for $1 billion in aid to Southeast Asia.

"We resolutely fight to the end, that is our answer," the official Hanoi newspaper Nhan Dan said in a 2,000-word editorial Sunday.

"If they want to continue the war, we will also continue to fight back."

The editorial said Johnson's aid proposal impressed no one but "a handful of traitors hankering after the milk and butter left unfinished by U.S. imperialists."

Nhan Dan said Johnson had demanded a peace settlement under which "the U.S. still stays in South Viet Nam and its puppet administration must be maintained."

"In other words, the so-called 'readiness to enter into unconditional discussions' expressed by Johnson is no other than readiness to enter into discussions on the condition that our people must lay down their weapons and submit themselves to the U.S., otherwise the U.S. keeps on using force to attain this goal."

However, the U.S. State Department did not view the editorial as an official rejection of Johnson's offers.

"North Viet Nam has not rejected anything," said Undersecretary of State George Ball in Washington.

At a simple ceremony Sunday two miles from his ranch home, Johnson reached the high point of a busy weekend that saw him pay his respects to Houston's futuristic baseball stadium, select retired Vice Adm. William F. Raborn Jr. as new chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, and sound a fresh warning of American determination in Viet Nam.

Johnson, with his first teacher sitting by his side, said of the education bill:

"As President of the United States, I believe deeply no law I have signed or will ever sign means more to the future of America."

Behind him was the tin-shed home which 53 years ago was a one-room schoolhouse where, as he told several hundred spectators as well as his old teacher, Kate Dedrich Loney, 72, of Rough and Ready, Calif.:

"I started school when I was 4 years old, and they tell me, Miss Kate, that I recited my first lessons while sitting on your lap."

Scores of old friends and schoolmates assembled for the occasion from all parts of Texas were ready to testify this was true.

Thus it was fitting that, in setting a precedent by using only one pen to sign the bill, Johnson handed the writing instrument to Miss Kate.

Of the new law, Johnson said: "It represents a major new commitment of the federal government to quality and equality in the schooling that we offer our young people. By passing this bill, we bridge the gap between helplessness and hope for more than five million educationally deprived children in America."

Nixon told reporters at London Airport Sunday that he tried to look up the former Russian premier during a visit to Moscow Saturday.

"I didn't try to see him at embassy level," he said. "About the only person to mention him was a cab driver. All references to him have been removed and people refuse to talk about Mr. K."

Cardinal
Meyer Lies
In State

CHICAGO (AP)—Thousands of mourners today will view the body of Albert Cardinal Meyer, which lies in state at Holy Name Cathedral.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. Hayes, pastor of the cathedral, said more than one million mourners were expected to pay tribute to the 62-year-old archbishop during a four-day wake.

The cardinal died Friday, the victim of a cancerous brain tumor. He was operated on Feb. 25, and never recovered. He was not told the tumor was malignant.

More than 3,000 persons an hour filed by the cardinal's bier, Msgr. Hayes said. The cathedral closed at midnight Saturday, but the constant flow of mourners resumed Sunday afternoon. The wake began Saturday with a pontifical Requiem Mass.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 11 a.m. CST in the cathedral with federal, state, civil and church dignitaries from across the nation attending.

Four of the five surviving American cardinals plan to attend the services. Richard Cardinal Cushing sent word that ill health will keep him in Boston. Paul Emile Cardinal Leger of Montreal is also expected to attend.

The cardinal will be buried in the cemetery of St. Mary of the Lake Seminary at Mundelein, north of Chicago.

Marines, Tanks
Land At Da Nang
In Buildup Move

By JOHN T. WHEELER
DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marine artillery and tanks were landed at Da Nang today as part of a buildup.

One Marine source said the move would give the U.S. one of the most powerful groupings of artillery under one command since World War II, to protect the Da Nang airbase.

One platoon of 8-inch howitzers and a battery of 105mm artillery were put ashore in connection with the landing of the third American Marine battalion to land in South Viet Nam since March 8.

A fourth battalion is due shortly.

The howitzers can fire atomic projectiles, but an authoritative Marine source said no such atomic weapons are in the country. He said the Marines do not have any nuclear artillery.

The remainder of an 18-plane Marine squadron of Phantom jet interceptors landed at Da Nang. Their commander said they were ready for missions.

The Phantoms were brought to Da Nang after MIG fighters began intercepting American planes on missions to North Viet Nam.

U.S. officials denied a Communist claim that American planes attacked North Viet Nam Sunday, but they admitted the loss of a plane which took part in a raid Friday.

Roosevelt
Memorial
Dedicated

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador W. Averell Harriman dedicated a small marble memorial to Franklin D. Roosevelt today and said, "The only monument that mattered to him was the continuing commitment to his ideals and purposes—to his vision of a just society and a peaceful world."

Harriman joined with friends of Roosevelt and members of his family for the ceremony held on the 20th anniversary of the wartime president's death.

The monument is small and simple, like he wanted it. It is located where he wanted it—on a little triangle of land near the National Archives Building on busy Pennsylvania Avenue.

"Today we execute his own expressed desire," Harriman said in his prepared speech, "and we do so knowing that we serve his memory best as we carry forward the ideals and purposes to which he gave his life."

"This is the monument which would please him most," said Harriman, who served Roosevelt in various posts and recently became ambassador-at-large after a period as undersecretary of state.

Harriman said of Roosevelt: "His greatness lay in the strength of his passion for plain people everywhere. He spoke for the 'forgotten man' not only in his own country but throughout the world."

Harriman recalled that when Roosevelt died he was ambassador to Moscow, "and even in Communist Russia people felt they had lost a friend. They told the world to the peace they craved."

He said Roosevelt "spoke of the great American ideal in terms that all men could understand."

"In this spirit," Harriman continued, "he rallied the free peoples in the war against German and Japanese aggression."

Riflemen
Being Sent To Viet Nam

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Army riflemen will be sent to South Viet Nam to strengthen security at some 75 locations where Americans are based, it was learned today.

About 1,100 troops, including some military police, will be spread around the country in detachments.

The infantrymen and MPs will relieve helicopter mechanics, cooks, supply clerks and others who have had to stand guard against attacks from Communist guerrillas.

Since the Reds made a damaging border attack on a barbed compound and an air field at Pleiku earlier this year, many Americans have had to double duty at many posts—their regular jobs and standing security guard as well.

The infantrymen and MPs are part of the several thousand reinforcements agreed on at the time of Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor's conferences here about 10 days ago.

Most of the additions—which will reach South Viet Nam over a period of months—will be applied to strengthening the logistics system in the country.

On top of straightening out deficiencies, it is obvious the move will lay a logistics base to support larger U.S. combat forces if a decision should be made to introduce them into South Viet Nam.

Kerner said criticism of the three men at a recent Senate executive committee hearing represents "an attempt to weaken and remove" the commission.

The committee will hold another hearing Tuesday on whether to confirm James Gray of Prospect Heights as chairman and commission members James Kemp of Chicago and George L. Seaton of Hinsdale.

"I feel they have done a good job," Kerner asserted. "I will fight for my nominees."

The FEPC has been under fire of Senate Republicans over charges that the commission approved cash settlements by firms accused of discriminating against Negro job seekers.

Kerner said cash settlements were involved in five cases. Of these, money was paid to complainants in three cases with FEPC approval. In the two other cases, Kerner said, cash was paid to two Negro organizations in Chicago.

Kerner said he felt the treatment that his FEPC appointees were receiving in the legislature was retaliation for the Motorola, Inc., case in which the commission awarded $1,000 damages to a Chicago Negro who claimed he was discriminated against. A court has since reversed the money award.

On other matters, the governor said although he does not favor a state income tax, a proposed state revenue article he will submit soon will not ban one.

"I don't like to see any prohibition in a revenue article," he said. "I don't think I'll need an income tax during my term but I don't think future administrations should be prohibited from considering any tax measure."

Kerner also told newsmen: He is strongly in favor of moving the Illinois primary election date from April to the first week in June.

Despite a persistent deadlock on legislative reapportionment, he remains confident a compromise will be reached.

He is not considering a substitute plan, such as a sales tax hike, for his budget proposals to increase gasoline, cigarette, public utilities and race track taxes. "I expect the revenue program I presented to be successful," Kerner said.

His remark last week that he was interested in running again for governor was not made in jest. "I am interested in a third term," he said. Illinois has a tradition against electing a governor to three consecutive terms.

He plans to reappoint Joseph Ragan as director of the Illinois Public Safety Department.

For Scout Near Starved Rock

LA SALLE, Ill. (AP)—Rescue workers continued to drag the Illinois River and canvass Starved Rock State Park today for a 12-year-old Boy Scout last seen Saturday.

The scout, Charles Brizius of La Grange, was last seen by fellow hikers at Eagles Nest, a cliff 100 feet above the Starved Rock Dam on the Illinois River at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Sheriff James Callahan said.

Rescue squads from Peru and Ottawa stopped dragging the river at 6 p.m. Sunday when rain and high winds made the water dangerous.

Sheriff's deputies, civil defense workers and park officials halted their search of the park shortly before dark. They resumed searching the park and adjacent areas today.

Brizius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brizius, was one of 25 youngsters who were hiking in the vicinity of Starved Rock and Matteson State Park. They were accompanied by six adults.

The boy is a 6th grade pupil at Goodman School in La Grange, a suburb of Chicago.

Glassy Look

By DICK MYERS
News Director, WRIN, Rensselaer, Ind.

LEBANON, Ind., (AP)—I have talked to some of the people who survived the tornadoes that ripped across northern and central Indiana Sunday night and they were still shaking and had a glassy look in their eyes.

In a Lebanon hospital I saw a man with blood streaming down his back. I asked why he didn't sit down.

"Why, there's nothing wrong with me," he said. He turned and found he was cut from the shoulder blade to his belt line.

A boy was standing in the hall wrapped in a blanket. All he had under it was a belt. I suppose it was all the clothing he could find.

There were so many injured that nurses were treating patients in the halls. Cots had been brought in from the National Guard Armory for the worst hurt. The dead were being taken there as the mortuaries filled up. They were being placed on the floor.

I saw a late model Thunderbird which had been picked up by a twister north of Lebanon and tossed 200 yards into a field. It was literally rolled into it.

'Whistling

WWII Shell'

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., (AP)—"The wind came whistling—a very shrill whistle—like an old German 88 shell in World War II," said Sheriff Richard Weiler of Grand Traverse County.

The sheriff spoke from a hospital bed in Grand Rapids. He suffered a severely injured leg when a tornado tore into the Andree Restaurant in nearby Alpine Township Sunday night.

His was one of several stories of terror told by victims of the series of twisters that hit Michigan.

"There were at least 50 people in the restaurant, Weiler said. "We heard this shrill whistle—and next thing we knew the wall had fallen in."

"Bricks and rafters were all about me. I told my wife—pull off the bricks—one piece at a time."

"All the people were covered with debris. Nobody panicked—it was marvelous. It was miraculous that everyone got out alive."

Before he was placed in an ambulance, Weiler crossed the road to check on a house that had been flattened, and he discovered a severely injured woman amid the debris.

This Week Major One
In Three Religions

By BENNET M. BOLTON
VATICAN CITY (AP)—This week is a major one for three of the world's leading religions. The Christians are observing Holy Week. The Jews begin celebration of Passover on Friday. Muslims begin the Feast of the Sacrifice today.

Pope Paul VI led Roman Catholics into Holy Week Sunday, expressing concern for world peace. But he voiced faith that mankind's hope for peace may not be in vain.

The pontiff blessed palms in the Sistine Chapel and celebrated Palm Sunday Mass in Italian before thousands in St. Peter's Basilica. He also spoke to 25,000 Romans and tourists from his apartment window.

"Again today peace fills our feast day and concerns the world which always has such great need for peace and which feels this blessing of peace so menaced," the Pope said.

"Instead, certain situations place us in doubt whether mankind is any longer able to maintain peace. But the feast of today teaches not only that peace is a duty, but that it is possible."

In divided Berlin, the East German Communists opened their wall again today to West Berliners going to visit relatives in East Berlin during Holy Week. A comparative few crossed the wall today. More than 400,000 West Berliners have received passes, but the big crush will not come until next weekend, for the Easter holidays.

East Berliners are not allowed to visit West Berlin.

For the first time in several years, the start of the Jewish Passover, which celebrates the escape of the Israelites from Egypt, coincides with Good Friday this year. The Jewish festival extends for seven days after Friday's Passover supper.

The Zionist Federation of Great Britain and Ireland appealed to the Soviet Union Sunday to permit Soviet Jews who have relatives in Israel to emigrate to that country.

In Jerusalem, three of Israel's Moslem leaders appealed to the government of neighboring Arab countries to allow Israeli Moslems to participate in the traditional pilgrimage to Mecca, Medina and Mt. Ararat during the Feast of the Sacrifice.

Arab countries do not recognize Israel and usually do not allow its citizens to travel across their borders. There are about 180,000 Moslems in Israel's population of more than 2 million.

Thousands Injured;
Damage In Millions

By The Associated Press
The nation counted 214 killed in a Palm Sunday tornado bombardment of six Midwestern states.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said 37 twisters injured thousands. Property damage estimates came to several millions.

While search of the debris from shattered homes continued today in some sections, Indiana counted 109 dead, Ohio 59, Michigan 36, Illinois 7 and Wisconsin 3. Iowa reported extensive damage but no deaths.

The rampant weather front spun the twisters through the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley diminished today as it spread into the East and Southeast.

Sunday's storms were deadlier than those the night of March 21-22, 1952 when twisters killed 208 in Arkansas, Missouri and Tennessee. The worst single day in terms of tornado death toll was in 1925 when a March 18 barrage of twisters took 689 lives in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana.

Indiana authorities had no estimate of the number of injured or the cost in property damage. There were three twister paths across the state's northern and central area. Power and communication failures hampered any assessment.

Some highways were blocked by wreckage.

At least 23 towns had fatalities, Dunlap, southeast of Elkhart, had many dead in a crushed and scattered trailer home community. One hundred houses were destroyed in Greentown near Kokomo. One hundred cottages were flattened at Koonz Lake northwest of Knox. Lapaz and Wyatt near South Bend were lashed.

In Ohio, the metropolitan Toledo section took the hardest punches, with 13 deaths listed (Continued On Page Seven)

Milestone: 70 Million

For the first time, the number of Americans with jobs has passed the 70 million mark. This is an occasion for modest congratulations, but only of the sort a traveler permits himself as he passes a milestone with a long ways still to go.

One measure of how far we have yet to travel on the road to ideal economic conditions is that some 8,740,000 Americans who want to work do not have jobs. In the light of that disturbing fact, and even though the jobless rate has declined to 4.7 per cent after seven years of almost constantly being 5 per cent or higher, 70 million jobs is plainly not yet enough.

The House of Representatives took dramatic note of this when it passed, by a vote of 392 to 0, a bill to expand and improve the Manpower Training and Development Act. A vigorous, sustained effort to train or retrain those who now swell the unemployment total is of the utmost importance.

Such a training program alone is not enough to turn the trick, however. It must be remembered that our present unemployment rate persists in the face of a prolonged maintenance of a high economic level. The obvious conclusion is that there needs to be even swifter expansion of the number of jobs available for those newly qualified to handle them. Seventy million jobs, in a swiftly rising population, is only a marker on the way to a much higher peak.

Campsite Pressure

All signs point to a record season for camping out this spring, summer and fall. Camping equipment sales are booming, and the demand for campsites promises to be greater than ever before.

Fortunately, the government has done something to relieve the pressure a bit on the national park system. The Department of the Interior has announced that campers will have 1,156 new places to pitch their tents this year. It is estimated that there are 27,782 camping spots in the national parks now, and that these will provide some eight million camp-use days.

The latter figure is the clue to the kind of pressure brought to bear on camping areas not only in national parks but in state parks and elsewhere. Despite the increase in federal campsites this year, space will be at a premium and campers often will find themselves more crowded than they are at home. An even greater effort to meet the need will have to be made.

The story is told about a country postman who a little while ago enjoyed his first holiday with pay. When he went back to work he asked what he had been doing during his holiday. Dear Ann:

Airs Views on Twinning

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: As a physician I was interested in your reply to the woman who wrote that she had been doing during her holiday. Her blond husband decided that the fair-haired twin was his but the black-haired twin was fathered by someone else.

The distraught woman pleaded with you to tell her husband it is not possible for twins to have different fathers. She said she had searched in the library for proof of her innocence but was unable to understand the medical language.

You said it was indeed possible for twins to be fathered by separate males, but that such occurrences were extraordinarily rare. After having said it was "possible" I'm sure your suggestion that her husband "shut his foolish mouth" meant nothing.

I would like to caution you against making statements which have no basis in fact. There is no scientific evidence that a woman who is pregnant can be impregnated. When it comes to matters involving a field which you know nothing, Ann Landers, why don't you tell YOUR foolish mouth?

ICHMOND, VA. M. D.
Dear M. D. from Va.: Thank you for your letter. I attempted to rely on my own knowledge for the replies which appear in this column. I would not have been writing for nearly ten years. I am in touch with experts in many fields and these experts are inordinately generous in providing me with information. You are wrong when you say there is no scientific evidence that a woman who is pregnant can be impregnated a second time. Dr. Luigi Gedda published a book in 1961 entitled "Twins in Science and History," which reported the birth of bi-racial twins in 1809. These twins could not possibly have been fathered by the same male. Another case reported in the same book described a twin birth in 1947. The babies were of differing blood groups. The woman's husband fathered the female twin and her lover fathered the male twin, by her own admission.

Answer Phone Quickly;

It Just Might Be LBJ

By WASHINGTON STAFF
WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson's penchant for telephoning around town on his own sometimes sends tremors of excitement through unexpected places.

Recently a woman operator for an answering service took a call for one of her steady clients.

She said the man wasn't in his office and added:

"Who shall I say called?" The soft reply stunned her: "Just say the President called."

Lawyer Dean Acheson—President Truman's secretary of state—is an avid student of economics, sociology and political science. He now reports this interest in the social sciences is waning.

Recently, Acheson picked up a book by a noted sociologist and looked up his own name in the index.

"I found that I was mentioned in only one footnote," he says, "and then as a 'dependent variable.'"

White House press secretary George Reedy now has three fish—a northern pike, a sailfish and a marlin—mounted on his office walls.

To distinguish it from nearby conference quarters called the Fish Room, Reedy's place is now called "The Aquarium."

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara is already worried that Congress will not approve his proposed reorganization of the reserves by a necessary July 1 deadline.

With the heavy backlog of must legislation, hearings on the reorganization may well be shunted aside.

At a recent press conference, Secretary of the Army Stephen Ailes was asked:

"If the committees presently investigating the reserves reorganization are still in hearings on July 1, will you go ahead with your plans?"

Ailes' answer: "This is the time I'm supposed to plead the Fifth Amendment, I think."

For the fifth consecutive year, Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman was invited to address the annual convention of the National Farmers Union.

Said Freeman: "I don't know whether I'm a guest or a habit."

A high-ranking administration official gives this description of the Congo situation where Premier Moise Tshombe's government is under heavy attack by guerrilla forces openly supported by numerous other African nations:

"In this type of thing, one man's moderation is another man's not-enoughness."

IN HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Would you like some ketchup?" asked the waitress as she delivered the baked eggs and hamburger patty.

"Honey," replied Robert Mitchum, "I am in no condition to make any decision."

His hooded eyes at half-mast, the actor was suffering through breakfast in a restaurant near Hollywood and Vine. He had just come from Bob Crane's radio show on KNX, a full schedule of interviews and appearances faced him through the day and into the evening.

Mitchum was in the first throes of that peculiar institution known as the personal appearance. Some performers consider it a form of exquisite torture; film companies deem it a necessary adjunct to the merchandizing of movies.

"Mr. Moses," a film he made in Africa with Carroll Baker last year, is the beneficiary of Mitchum's travels. It is the first tour he has made in a dozen years.

He explained the lapse: "No body asked me."

"The trouble is, you get a different guy to handle you in each city," the actor remarked. "He doesn't realize what you've been through in the previous city, and he books you around the clock. He also wastes a lot of time because he figures I'll be late. When I show up every time five minutes early, he gets shook up."

"Then there's the booze. You see 40 people in a day and each one wants to have a drink with you. That sorta adds up, you know."

His outlook improved as he stabbed at the baked eggs and thought of home at the end of the trail. Home for the past few years has been a horse-breeding farm on Chesapeake Bay 75 miles from Baltimore.

He claims that he doesn't see enough of the place because he has to keep making films to pay for it. His reported salary: $400,000 per film.

But some one will say, You have faith and I have works. Show me your faith apart from your works, and I by my works will show you my faith. —James 2:18.

Let us be content in work; to do the thing we can; and not presume to fret because it's little. —Elizabeth Barrett Browning, 19th century English poet.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—In her autobiography, Eleanor Roosevelt said she once asked President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who died 20 years ago today, if he believed all he had been taught about religion.

Roosevelt, a warden of the Episcopal Church, replied: "I never really thought about it. I think it is just as well not to think about things like that too much."

And once, asked about his philosophy, he said: "Philosophy? I am a Christian and a Democrat—that's all." The two answers give an insight into the man and the mind.

He was not an intellectual. He could not think in abstract terms. He was not even a wide reader. His vision was limited and unorganized.

He didn't see the depression coming any more than President Herbert Hoover did. When it did come he had no plan for coping with it, as he showed by trying to outdo Hoover in promising economy.

But he had a far greater sense of action and of the power of the presidency than Hoover. And, because his mind was not frozen, he had brains enough to know he needed ideas. To help him, he called in intellectuals.

With their help and the needs of the country he patched the New Deal together, a bit at a time, and some of the bits were no good and had to be discarded.

Although he was president a little more than 12 years, the New Deal was finished in his first five, ending with enactment of the 40-hour work week in 1938. By then foreign troubles had become overpowering.

Roosevelt's foundation stone was his temperament. A warm man, with a concern for people, he was responsive to their needs and for the first time gave millions a sense of belonging. No wonder millions wept when he died.

His guiding light was a sense of social justice and, because he had no philosophy, he was flexible and could accept change.

He was aristocratic, which gave him a sense of ease, and rich enough to feel secure within himself. Out of both came his self-confidence. The flexibility and the self-confidence enabled him to welcome challenge.

These qualities, and his faith in his country, made him the greatest cement-mixer in American history. Inheriting a shattered country, his task as he saw it was to glue the pieces together, sometimes with fresh cement.

The New Deal has been called a revolution and it was, insofar as it broke with the callous American past by making, for the first time the government responsible for the general welfare.

But he was basically a conservative and so was his revolution which can be seen by looking no further than at those two other revolutions of his day, fascism and communism, which were then itching to take over the world.

Much that he did he played by ear, assuming it would be understood that if he didn't do the best right away he would when he could. Once, when he took a step which looked devious and he got a complaint, he said: "For heaven's sake, have some faith."

He looked upon the presidency primarily as a position of leadership, but was haunted by the feeling he had to prepare people for his next step, so much so that he once complained: "It's a terrible thing to look over your shoulder when you are trying to lead and find no one there."

As a result of this concern, he failed far too long to lead the country out of neutrality and isolation when the opposite might have changed the history of the world by discouraging Hitler and Japan.

He never quite whipped the depression—the war did that—but he got the country off its back in one of its most desperate hours, started it moving, gave it a new direction, provided inspired leadership in war, and launched the atomic age.

In 12 years he steered the country out of chaos and into leadership of the Western world. In 1956 Clinton Rossiter, in his book, "The American Presidency," said: "Roosevelt, I am sure, will never be ranked with Washington and Lincoln."

Six years later 75 historians polled on all the presidents and put Roosevelt next after Lincoln and Washington as great ones.

Our dinner partner, Marjorie Barrett, food editor of the Denver Rocky Mountain News, and daughter of the author of "Left Hand of God" and "Lilies of the Field," told us that her distinguished father likes lamb cooked Italian style. She gave us this recipe.

Lamb Italian Style
4 cups cubed cooked lamb
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons olive or salad oil

2 cans (1 pound, 12 ounces each) tomatoes, undrained
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon each: basil leaves, oregano

In preparing scalloped oysters, some cooks like to use a mixture of bread and cracker crumbs although most recipes call for one or the other!

MAKE FAST REPAIRS
The time to make minor repairs in clothes is the moment you discover that damage has been done. If you put off the repair job, you'll find yourself ready to dress for a date with a dress that you can't wear without fixing.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Celiac Disease Victims

Must Avoid Malt Foods

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
In a recent column on celiac disease I stated that the victim should not be given any food that contains even small traces of cereals that have gluten as a component. One mother writes her 2½-year-old son has celiac disease and is on a gluten-free diet. She was not aware until she read my column on this subject that she should not give him anything with malt in it and she would like an explanation.

In addition to wheat, gluten is found in barley and rye. Malt may be made from wheat, barley or other grains. Since the source of malt is not stated on the labels of products that contain malt, all malt products should be avoided by her son.

Oats contain no chemically detectable gluten but persons with celiac disease who eat oats may get the same harmful results achieved by eating foods known to contain gluten.

Corn, rice and soy contain no gluten and are generally safe, especially if the labels proclaim them to be gluten-free. Other corn, rice and soy products are harmful only insofar as they are combined with or contaminated by other cereals that contain gluten.

One of the items I said should be avoided was ice cream because it sometimes contains a starch filler. I have now been informed by reliable sources that such fillers are not currently used in making commercial ice cream. Thus ice cream may be safely eaten by those who have celiac disease as well as those who are allergic to wheat.

This points up a difficulty that has long plagued allergists and nutritionists. In the modern manufacture of many of our foods, even though the components are listed on the label, we don't always know what is in them. For example a label that says starch is present leaves us in the dark as to the exact source of the starch. Likewise the sugar listed maybe cane sugar or beet sugar. This is an important distinction to the few unfortunate persons with allergies to one or the other.

Q—Is it a good idea to say to a child when he leaves the table, "Come back and clean up your plate?"

A—Junior may leave food to get your attention. Furthermore, nagging may turn mealtime into a minor nightmare or turn the child against certain foods he might otherwise learn to enjoy. The best policy is to let him go without any fuss but be firm about denying dessert or between-meal snacks.

We, the Women

These Phone Boors Rate Your Dizzy Signal

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The telephone wouldn't be an instrument of torture so often if it weren't for callers like these:

The voice from far away and long ago who calls up out of a clear, blue sky and demands, "I'll bet you can't guess who this is?"

The voice that doesn't trouble to identify itself—but just starts talking as though anyone who had ever heard it should be able to recognize it.

The person who calls you hours after your bedtime and, in response to your sleepy "Hello," says, "I hope I didn't wake you." (Does he assume you have insomnia?)

The person who leaves a number but no name, so that when you try to call back you have no idea who you are trying to reach—or why.

The one who calls at the dinner hour, because he is sure of catching you at home—and never mind about your dinner getting cold.

The person who dials your number and, when you answer, asks abruptly, "Who is this?"

The young man who calls a girl and says, "What are you doing tonight?" without giving her any hint of what he has in mind if she says "nothing."

The unknown voice that, in answer to your "Hello," begins: "Congratulations. Your name has been selected to receive..."

The caller who dials your number by mistake and when you say politely that he must have the wrong number slams down the telephone, without bothering to say, "I'm sorry."

The caller who telephones a man at home on a business matter with the explanation, "I didn't want to bother you at the office."

There's nothing wrong with the telephone, but there's a lot wrong with the ways some people use it.

American Menu

Lamb Italian Style

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
This is the week of the lamb. Traditionally in many countries it is the most popular Easter meat.

Recently, the American Lamb Council was host to a small group of food editors on a trip through the sheep raising areas of Colorado. Our first stop was Denver, the mountain-guarded mile high city and headquarters of the council. We stayed overnight at the venerable and still elegant Brown Palace Hotel.

The council gave a banquet featuring Lambird Imperial (no political significance). It's not for a simple family dinner. It has a boneless leg of lamb for body, a lamb shank for neck and head, and lamb spareribs for wings. This "bird" is easy to carve, they told us, but we rated it more as a showpiece than a menu item.

Lamb is a mild, delicate meat, especially when raised on rich mountain grasses. Experts at the banquet told us that because of today's more scientific breeding and feeding, the typical animal goes to market at a younger age, is leaner and more tender. Meat packers and retailers trim the fat more closely. They say that an average 3½-ounce serving of today's cooked lamb (lean plus marbling of fat) provides 16 per cent more protein, 41 per cent less fat, and 25 per cent fewer calories than lamb used to have in the old butchering days. For this reason it is a favorite meat of weight watchers.

Our dinner partner, Marjorie Barrett, food editor of the Denver Rocky Mountain News, and daughter of the author of "Left Hand of God" and "Lilies of the Field," told us that her distinguished father likes lamb cooked Italian style. She gave us this recipe.

Aid Goodwill Drive

The last phase of the Land of Lincoln Goodwill Drive took place Saturday. The Scouts went house to house picking up the filled Goodwill Bags that were distributed last Saturday, April 3, and during the following week. It is requested that the people of Jacksonville donate repairable and usable clothing, appliances, and furniture for the benefit of the handicapped at Goodwill Industries.

Goodwill Industries is an organization which provides employment for the handicapped through repairing and selling donated items.

Two Goodwill Deposit boxes were placed in the city square for display purposes last week. There are deposit boxes located in heavy traffic areas in Jacksonville. A Goodwill truck picks up materials every Monday in Jacksonville.

He had heard grating sounds in the driveway. The door chimed sounded. He strode to the entrance, snapped it open and stood staring at Dr. David Tancred.

"You're just in time, my good brother-in-law, my fine old friend. You have some filling-in to do."

David stepped in quickly, angry color in his face. He closed the door behind him with a quick thrust and spoke over Clay's shoulder to Cynthia.

"Sara was on her way to bed when you phoned. I told her it was a house call, an emergency."

Clay gave him an empty laughing sound. "And she believed you. Oh, we have faith, my sister and I."

David glared at him. "You may wind up wishing you had ever more of it."

He crossed the room to Cynthia. She spoke to each other quickly and quietly. Cynthia briefing him on how much she had told Clay so far.

"All right, Cyn," David was saying, still with anger in his voice. "There's no help for it now. He'll have to hear the rest of it."

"High time," Clay said shortly.

David visibly took a new grip on himself. "I admit, I've been faking amnesia. And for a good reason, I'm protecting my daughter."

"Protecting her from what?"

"From the police, of course. From a murder charge."

Clay took a moment to absorb that. Suddenly everything was clear; yet it wasn't. "Do you actually mean it was Diane who went to that motel with Howie Gould?"

"It was."

He stared at Cynthia. "You told me this thing between Di and Howie was all fixed up. You'd interceded for her, and you'd made him promise to let her alone."

"He did promise," Cynthia said. "But it was evidently too much to expect him to keep his word. In fact, knowing Howie, I think he gloated over the whole thing—took it as a sign of weakness on Di's part."

"You know this much," Clay pointed out. "Di was frantic to get away from him, and that she tore loose long enough to run to the outdoor phone booth and put through a call for help."

"It wasn't me she called," David said.

Clay turned to his wife. "So instead of calling her father, Di called you."

"Di was almost hysterical. She told me where she was and begged me to come for her. I heard bumping noises, like a struggle in the booth, and a man's voice in the background—Howie's, so nasty, really furious. The next thing I knew there was a loud clatter and I was holding a dead phone."

"It put Cyn in a bad spot," David said, "but she used her head—decided it was more than she could tackle alone."

"Obviously the whole crazy thing had gotten out of hand," Cynthia said. "Some thing drastic had to be done right away, and David could not be kept in ignorance of it any longer. I phoned him and he came right over. On our way to the motel I told him all about it."

David carried it on. "We pulled into the parking lot. No sign of Di. No other car."

"I know," Clay put in. "The proprietor came to your car to ask what you wanted. You decided you'd better take a room."

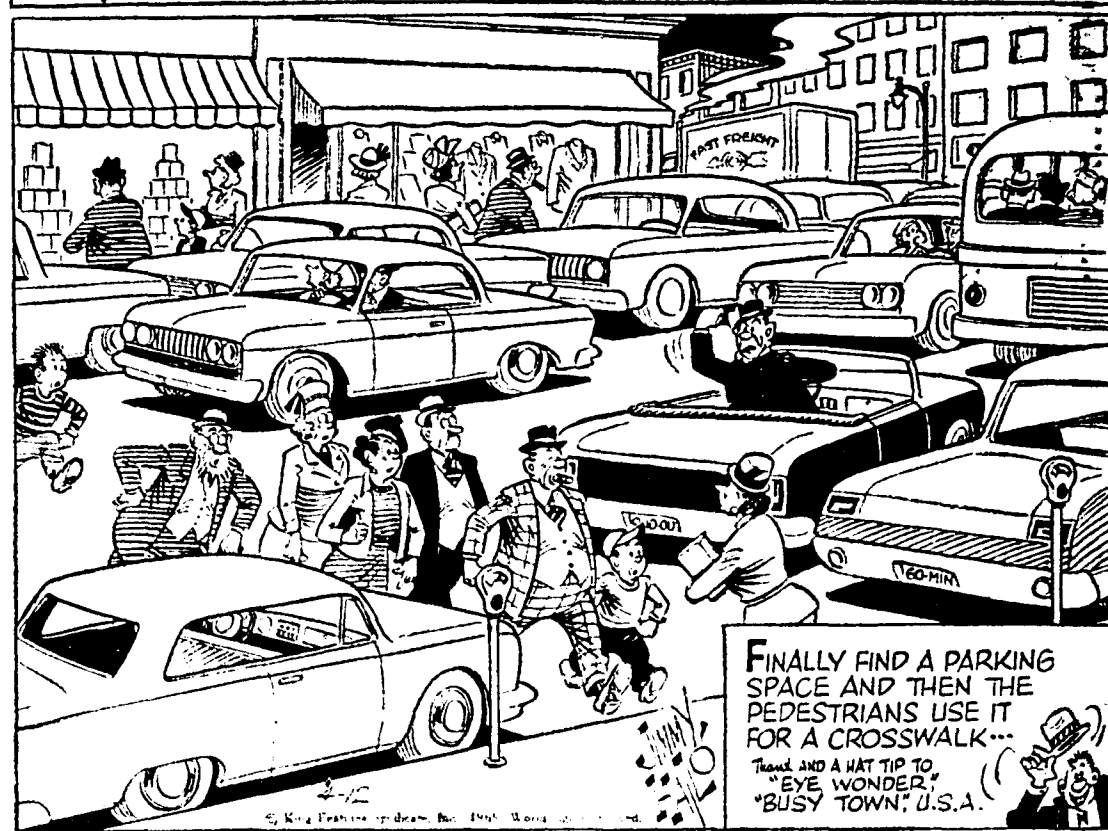

David frowned over that, then went on. "So Cyn and I sat inside that room, waiting and making blind guesses. I decided to check on the only other occupied room there. I left Cyn, went down to No. 3, knocked and got no answer. I tried the knob. The door wasn't locked, so I looked in and saw—David closed his eyes as if to black out his mental picture of the scene, then opened them and stared at it—Howie lying on the floor, dead, with that golf club beside him."

"It was all too clear then what happened. Di had used Howie's car to get away from there, but... had she left any signs of herself? I looked all around without finding any trace of her, but I was afraid she might have left her fingerprints on the club handle. I wiped it off, then remembered how crime labs use delicate tests that sometimes give uncanny results, so I decided to get rid of the club entirely. I tossed it into the rear seat of my car, got Cyn out of the other room and—we started back."

Clay shook his head. If David had been able to carry through his scheme to abandon his car and report it stolen, Barclay wouldn't have been put off the track for long. There would have been more evidence than the motel registration—taxi drivers were also required to keep records.

ROLL EM!

An Arab, instructed to charge the camera for this scene in "Masquerade," did a good job, but the near miss with the saber on cameraman Otto Heller left Heller slightly shaken.

To get a shot of Indians standing on a 500 foot cliff overlooking a valley in "The Hallelujah Trail," John Surtees had himself and camera swung out over the cliff on a boom.

To film the Mersey River closeup in all its greasy splendor for "Ferry Across the Mersey," Gilbert Taylor was tied to a board swung over the side of the boat.

With the current trend towards realism, motion picture cameramen are finding themselves more and more literally out on a limb.

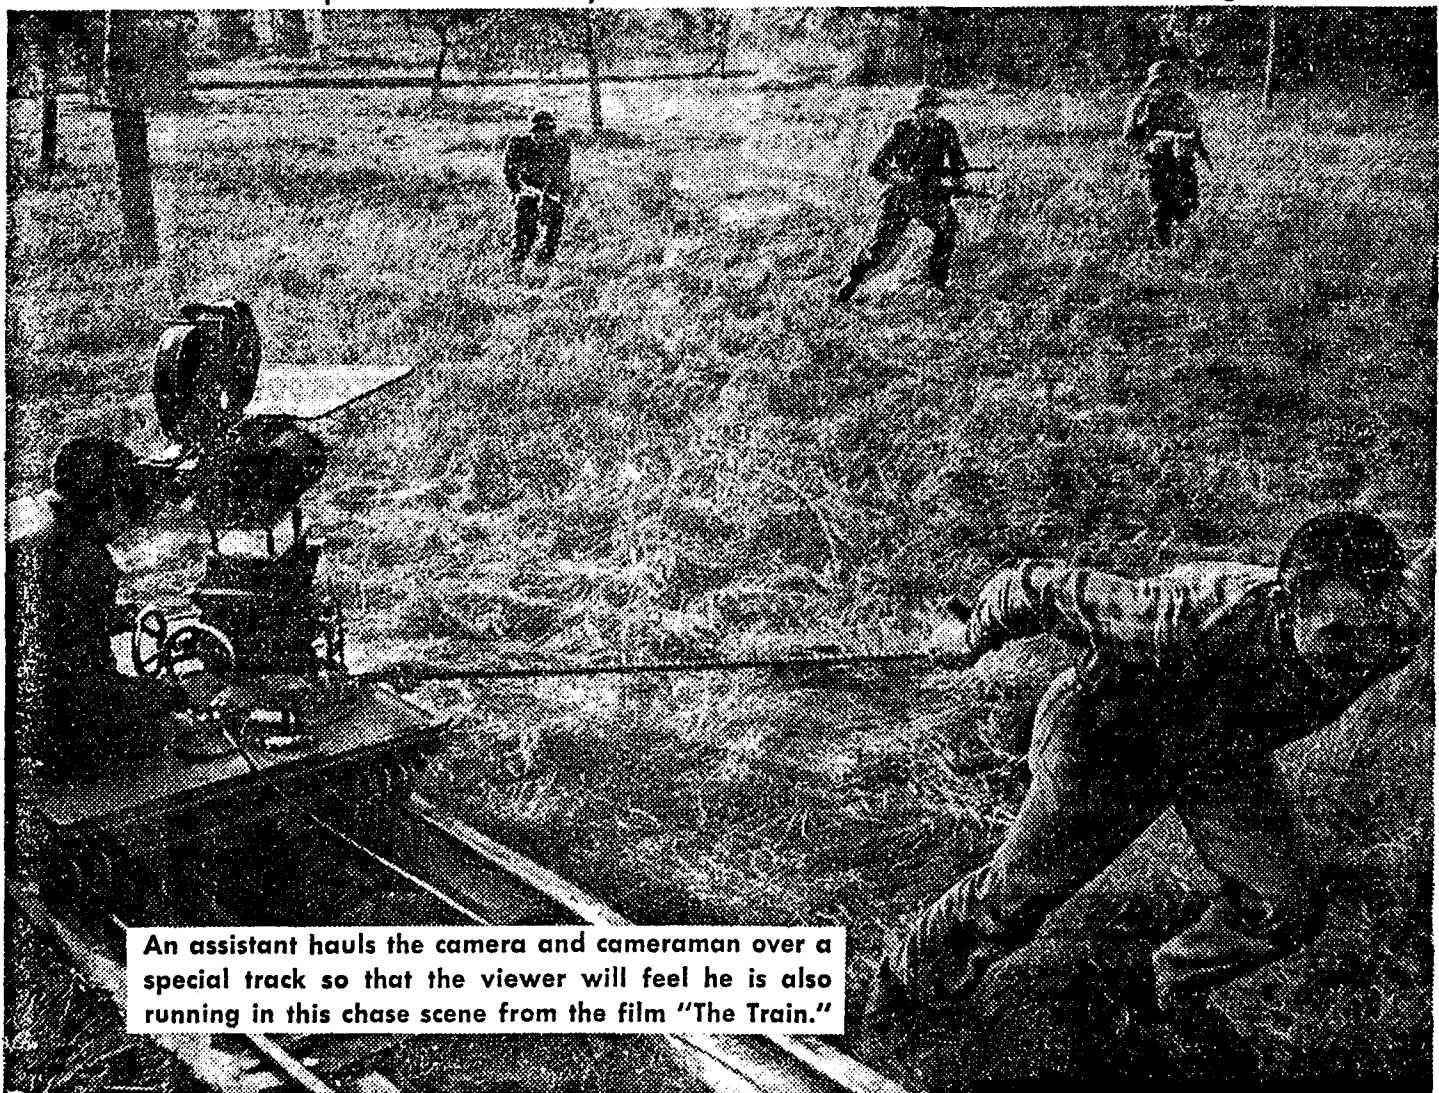

Refinements in camera, lenses, films and equipment have given them and the directors a new freedom to experiment at stronger means of expression.

Directors are now demanding shots that project the viewer into the scene or present a different, eye-catching view.

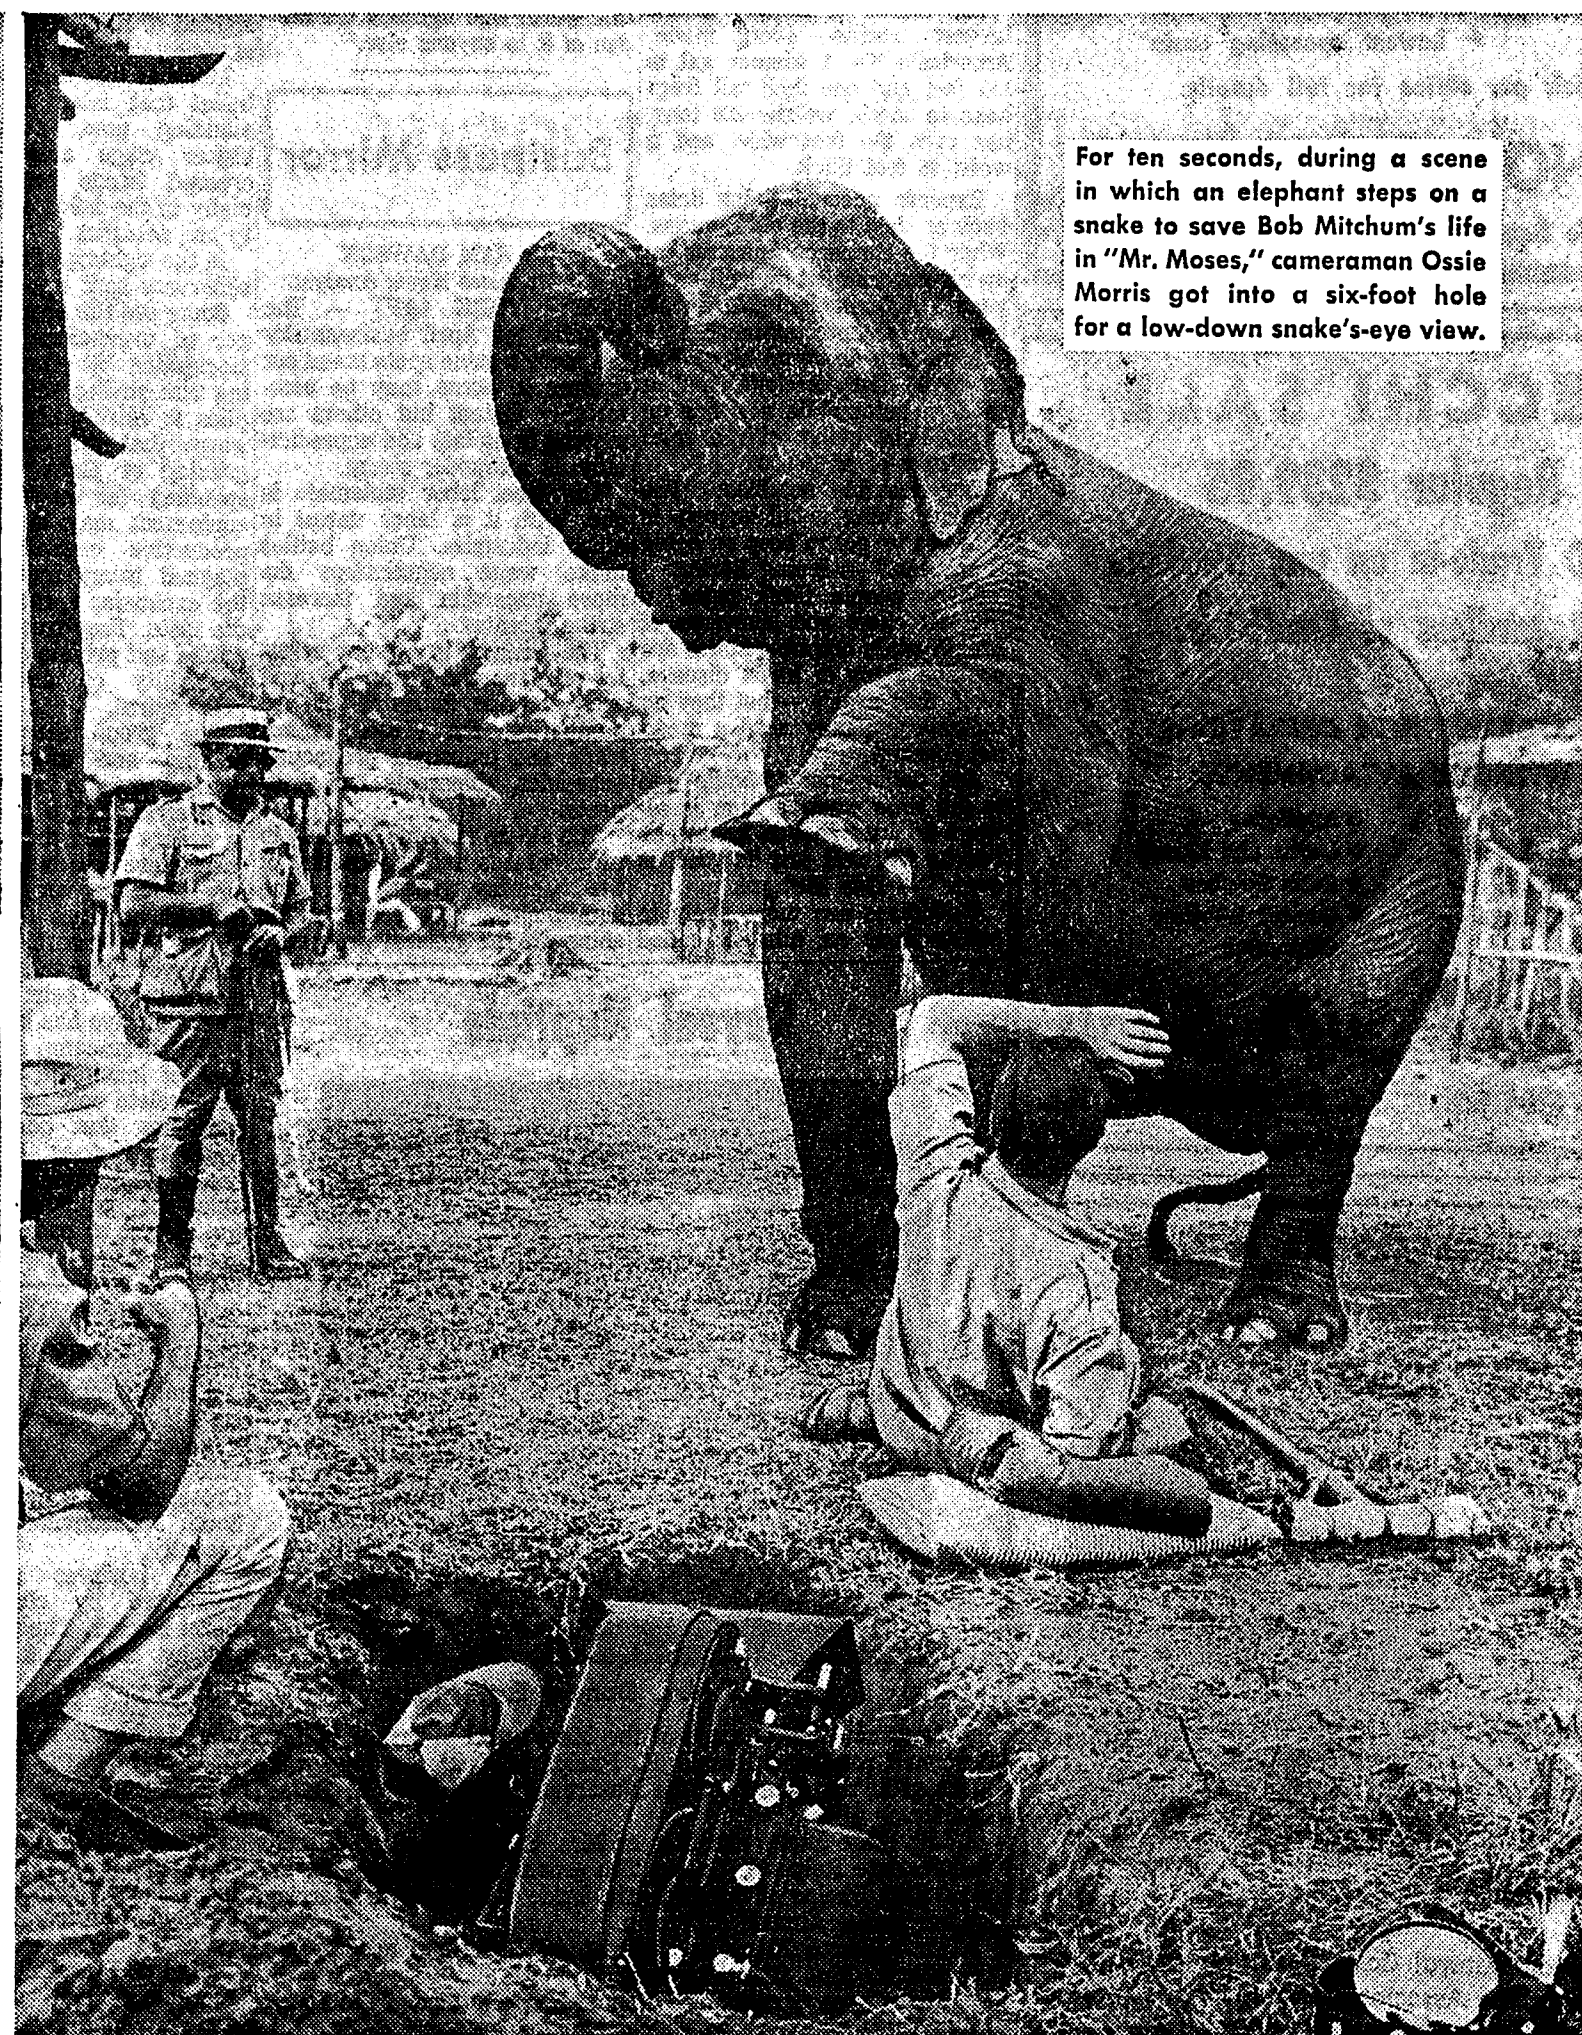

The end results have been interesting, but equally so are the things that the cameramen have to go through to get these shots.

An umbrella keeps the camera lens dry but not the cameraman in this scene from "A Rage To Live."

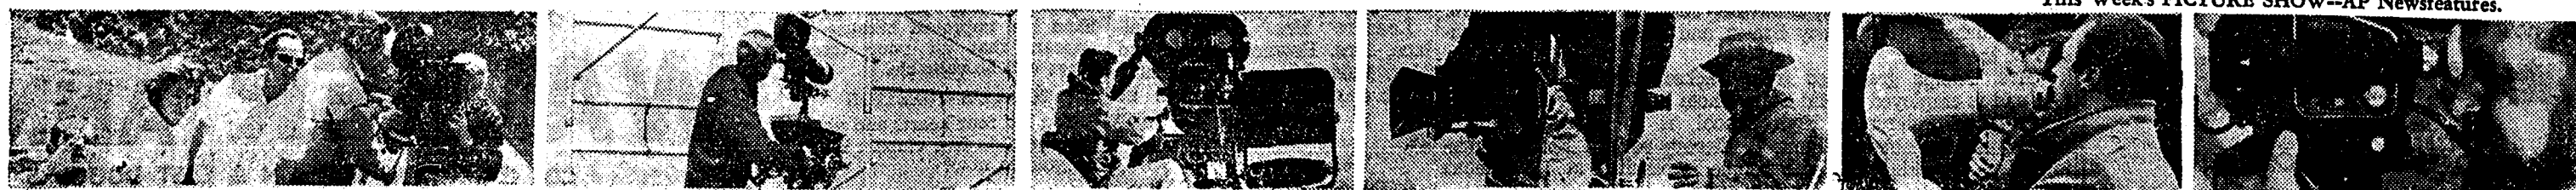

An assistant hauls the camera and cameraman over a special track so that the viewer will feel he is also running in this chase scene from the film "The Train."

For ten seconds, during a scene in which an elephant steps on a snake to save Bob Mitchum's life in "Mr. Moses," cameraman Ossie Morris got into a six-foot hole for a low-down snake's-eye view.

Roosevelt Memorial Dedicated

And, in this spirit, he sought to use the intimacies of the war-time alliance to lay the basis for the collaboration of peace."

The ambassador noted that Roosevelt in 1941 said that if the United States loses the sacred fire of liberty it will reject the destiny that George Washington and the other Founding Fathers worked so hard to establish.

"That sacred fire still burns today — by the grave over at Arlington and on the fronts, whether in Alabama or Viet Nam, where men fight for liberty, and in the White House itself," Harriman said.

Anna Roosevelt Halsted, only daughter of the late president, was to accept the monument in behalf of the family.

It is the capital's first monument to the man who served as president longer than any one else — 12 years and 40 days.

stretch of Highway M-37 was fantastic.

Swann Inn, a 26-unit two-story motel, had its top floor blown off and its companion restaurant was left a flattened nightmare.

Bernard Spruit, co-owner, and his wife, Jane, parents of five young children, said there was no warning.

"I looked out and said to my wife, 'The sky looks funny,'" he told newsmen. "Then the wind started to kick up, and we grabbed the kids and dashed down to the basement apartment where my sister, Theresa, lives. We pounded on the door and just made it inside as the wind hit."

More than 100 miles across the state, in Hillsdale, a similar scene greeted rescuers moving into the area.

Al Sandner, an Associated Press reporter, said he saw one farm house which looked from the front as if it had been untouched.

"But when you got around to the side, the rest of the house was just a pile of debris. It was almost like a movie prop out of a Hollywood Western."

ball. The driver was the only one of the four people in the car wearing a seat belt and he was able to walk back to the road. Two were killed and the other was in critical condition.

Civil defense people said 75 to 80 homes were damaged around Lebanon. Many of them are beyond repair. Some just aren't there any more.

One Guardsman at the armory sent word to his wife to send him some cigarettes and some change and said to tell her not to expect him home for a day or two.

An aged woman was found dead in a smashed house in the Elizaville area. About an hour later an electrical cooperative repair crew found a boy in his early-teens—probably the dead woman's grandson—lying critically injured near a barn about a hundred yards away.

Ray Wilk, whose house was badly damaged, said, "The house started to shake and tremble. Then all hell broke loose." He said his wife and daughter were in a front room watching television. And although they were thrown clear across the room, nobody in the family was hurt.

Linda Darnell Rites Today In Glenview

GLENVIEW, Ill. (AP)—Private funeral services were scheduled today in Glenview for actress Linda Darnell, 43, who died of burns Saturday.

Miss Darnell suffered burns over 80 per cent of her body in a fire at the home of friends in Glenview Friday.

Miss Darnell's adopted daughter, Charlotte Lola Marley, 17, flew to her mother's side shortly before the actress' death.

Miss Darnell was the guest of Jeanne Curtis, former secretary to the actress, and her daughter Patricia, 16. Mrs. Curtis' husband, Richard, a businessman, was out of town when the fire broke out in the living room of the two-story Curtis town house.

The actress was found unconscious by firemen in the living room, where a few hours earlier she had watched one of her old movies on television with the Curtises.

Mrs. Curtis and her daughter and the actress' David Mudhenk, 22, suffered minor burns in the blaze. Mudhenk tried to reach the actress by breaking a window.

Miss Darnell, the star of many Hollywood films, died in the burns treatment center of Cook County Hospital, where she was transferred from the Skokie Valley Community Hospital.

Dr. John Boswick Jr., director of the burn center, said the primary cause of death was the searing of Miss Darnell's throat and lungs by superheated air she inhaled.

The actress was married and divorced three times. Her husbands included cameraman Peverell Marley; Philip Liebmman, a New York brewer; and Merle Robertson, an airline pilot from whom she was divorced in 1963.

and searchers seeking other victims.

The Red Cross reported 178 injured were admitted to hospitals.

Near Lima, in the Cairo-Bluffton area 12 were killed; 18 died in Lorain County near Cleveland. Gov. James A. Rhodes declared the tornado-smashed communities a disaster area. Fifty-three cars of a freight train were derailed by the wind south of Lima.

Michigan's southern section was ripped from Grand Rapids to Hillsdale County. Deaths occurred in widely scattered places. Five deaths and 100 injured were reported in the Grand Rapids area. Across the state near Hillsdale, five were killed. Nine died at Manitou Beach in Lenawee County, and two at Hemlock Lake. There were other deaths.

National Guard units were called to guard property, establish communications and help the homeless in Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana.

Illinois counted seven dead in twisters which hit northwest of Chicago. Five were killed in Crystal Lake, one at Island Lake, and one in Chicago where flying debris in high winds did extensive damage. Damage was estimated at $6 million.

In Wisconsin, three motorists were killed on a highway near Watertown when tornadoic wind upset their cars. Monroe, in southern Wisconsin, was the scene of extensive damage, but no lives were lost there.

Iowa, also was hit as the tornado rash began its sweep eastward, but only one severe injury was reported. Power disruptions affected many communities.

The windstorm came hours after President Johnson declared 39 Minnesota counties a disaster area in the wake of the state's worst flood in history. Some 20,000 persons fled their homes before spreading flood waters from rivers throughout the state.

The Indiana toll was the worst disaster in the state's history. In 1963 an explosion at an ice show in Indianapolis took 74 lives.

For thousands, Palm Sunday was harrowing.

Eight Killed On Illinois Roads Over Weekend

At least eight persons were killed on Illinois roads and highways last weekend.

Friday night John Urquhart, 69, of Villa Park was killed in a two-car collision on U.S. 20 about 15 miles east of Freeport.

Urquhart's wife, Clara, and the driver of the other car Raymond Meyer, 49, of Elizabeth suffered minor injuries in the accident.

Two boys were struck and killed in two separate accidents in Moline Saturday when they darted in front of passing cars from behind parked cars. Police identified the boys as Larry Hessner, 4, and Kent Rottman, 5.

In other accidents Saturday: Glen Swanson, 52, a Moline service station operator, was struck and killed by a passing car when he stepped into the street to aid an injured cat.

Illinois And Missouri Areas Brace For Flood

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — Mississippi River towns in northern Missouri and Illinois are preparing for a double dose of flooding waters from northern rivers.

Robert Clevensline, chief of the operations division of the Corps of Engineers at Rock Island, said Sunday night two flood crests can be expected on the Mississippi below Burlington, Iowa.

"We're going to get the effects of Iowa rivers for the next week, he said, "and when they begin to slack off, waters from Minnesota rivers will reach us."

Some water already has overflowed its banks and entered Hannibal and LaGrange, Mo. Businessmen on the river are sandbagging levees and moving stock from their stores.

The Burlington Railroad has discontinued its run between St. Louis and Minneapolis because of flooding and U.S. 61 at Alexandria, Mo., is covered by 10 inches of water.

Water also covers sections of Missouri 79 between Hannibal and Louisiana, Mo.

The flood stage at Hannibal is 20.2 feet and is expected to crest at 22.5 feet late this week.

Hannibal is the largest town in the area threatened by flooding waters because its downtown section is near the river and its banks slope to the river.

Quincy, Ill., residents expect little trouble because the town rests on high bluffs. Canton, Mo. just finished rebuilding its levee.

Tab Candidates For Loop Flags

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis and Philadelphia are expected to emerge as the top contenders in a six-team National League race and the New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles are selected to fight it out in the American League according to the pre-season comments of the 20 big league managers.

The managers went on the record, more or less emphatically depending on their position, before the season opened today with an unusual nine-game program. The only teams not scheduled to start today, Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox, will play their first game Tuesday at Baltimore.

Of prime interest on the program expected to attract 268,000 fans was the first official indoor game at Houston's domed stadium where the Astros were to meet the Philadelphia Phillies in a night game.

The St. Louis Cardinals, the World Series winners, opened defense of their National League pennant in Chicago.

In other day games Milwaukee helped Cincinnati stage its traditional gala opener, the Los Angeles Dodgers took on the New York Mets at Shea Stadium, and San Francisco was at Pittsburgh for a duel of new managers Herman Franks of the Giants and Harry Walker of the Pirates.

The New York Yankees were at Minnesota and President Johnson was to throw out the first ball at Washington before the game between the Boston Red Sox and the Senators.

There were two night games on the American League schedule, Detroit at Kansas City and Cleveland at Los Angeles.

In the latest rundown of odds at Las Vegas the Yanks were 4-5 favorites in the American League with Baltimore 5-2 and Chicago 7-2. In the National League the Giants were 3-1 with the Cardinals, Dodgers and Phillies bunched at 7-2 and the Reds 4-1.

The managers' comments:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Johnny Keane, New York — "I've got the most talented group I've ever managed and I'm sure we'll win the pennant."

Al Lopez, Chicago — "We're in better shape to catch the Yankees than any year since I came to Chicago. You can't discount the Orioles and Yankees as tough to beat."

Hank Bauer, Baltimore — "I'm picking Baltimore to win it this time. Our guys profited from being in the race last year and that experience is valuable. It's not gonna be easy. New York, as always, Chicago, Baltimore, Cleveland, Minnesota and Detroit are good clubs.

"My club is improved on the bench. The team that stays healthiest has the best chance and Baltimore's got as good a chance as anybody."

Bob Swift, Detroit — "Six teams will figure in the race. They are Chicago, New York, Baltimore, Cleveland, Minnesota and us. We have as good a chance as anybody."

Bill Rigney, Los Angeles — "No predictions. I never have. I'm confident we're going to have an improved early season. By June 1 last year we were 10th. Despite a 66-50 record after that we could do no better than fifth."

Birdie Tebbetts, Cleveland — "We're definitely a contender. I agree with the 'experts' who pick Cleveland behind New York, Baltimore and Chicago. The way I see it the league is divided into three sections: Yanks, Orioles and White Sox; then Cleveland, Detroit, Minnesota, Los Angeles and Boston, an improved team."

Sam Mele, Minnesota — "I think the White Sox will be tougher than the Yankees because they have the best pitching and have added a couple of youngsters who should make their pitching even better."

"I think the Twins have to be better but I can't say how much. We have guys in the bullpen who can save some games for us. We've still got a lot of room for improvement on defense."

Billy Herman, Boston — "I've got to say the Yankees once again are the team to beat. They have a sound ball club and don't beat themselves very often. Chicago and Baltimore both figure to be tough with good pitching and defense."

Gil Hodges, Washington — "If there was such a thing as a three-sided coin I would flip it among the White Sox, Orioles and Yankees. If the Orioles win, a comeback by Steve Barber would be the key. We are much improved because of our trades with the Dodgers and Indians."

Mel McGaha, Athletics — "You have to go with the Yankees. I think the race will be a great deal like last year with Chicago and Baltimore giving the Yanks the most trouble."

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Red Schoendienst, St. Louis — "I think the Cardinals have an excellent chance of repeating but it will be tough. Milwaukee will be a threat and don't overlook Los Angeles and San Francisco."

Dick Sisler, Cincinnati — "It ought to be a five-or-six club race, depending on whether the Dodgers work out their problems at third and second base and if Koufax and Podres are all right."

Gene Mauch, Philadelphia — "The Phillies were a good club last season. They should be better this year. Some of our players were outstanding like Richie Allen, Johnny Callison, Chris Short and Jim Bunning."

Herman Franks, San Francisco — "Certainly we have a shot at the pennant and so do a half a dozen others. Rate the finish?"

NEW LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMP USES SPEED
PANAMA CITY (AP) — "He doesn't stick around to get hit."

And that's the reason 21-year-old Ismael Laguna now is lightweight champion of the world, according to the beaten favorite, Carlos Ortiz.

The elusive young Panamanian won the title with a split 15-round decision over Ortiz Saturday night before an ecstatic crowd of 18,000 at Olympic Stadium.

"Laguna is not a strong puncher, but I couldn't get to him," Ortiz said after the fight. The 26-year-old Puerto Rican won the crown from Joe Brown three years ago, defended it successfully four times, and was narrowly favored to win again.

Actually, Laguna — a pro for four years and making his first start as a lightweight — had a puncher's record, scoring knockouts in 25 of his 38 victories going into Saturday night's bout.

But against Ortiz, the young fighter used speed of hand and foot, raking hooks and rapier jobs. Ortiz repeatedly tried to storm in, but just as repeatedly the swift Laguna danced out of reach.

"He hit me good only once, in the third round," Laguna said. Laguna, who weighed 132 pounds, became the first champion from Panama since Al Brown held the bantam title 1929-35. His record now is 39-2.

Ortiz, 134½, blamed his loss partially on the fact he hadn't fought hard since his title defense against Kenny Lane last April. His record is 44-5, with one no-decision.

I'm not going to make any comparisons or worry about what others will do. I just hope we stay healthy."

Bobby Bragan, Milwaukee — "St. Louis and Cincinnati are the teams to beat. It looks like a six-club race. We will be in the thick of it, and so will San Francisco, Philadelphia and Los Angeles. Pittsburgh is a possible dark horse."

Walter Alston, Dodgers — "This is no time to try to pick a winner, but I feel we will be in it all the way."

"If we stay physically sound and, if some of the men, like Tommy Davis, Willie Davis and Maury Wills, are as good during the season as they've been in spring training, we could win the pennant. We'll have as good a chance as any."

Barry Walker, Pittsburgh — "I would say the Cardinals have the ball club. They would be my choice if I had to make a prediction. The dark horse will be Milwaukee in the usual close race where five or six teams can win the pennant."

Bob Kennedy, Chicago — "This is the year the Cubs are going to break out of the second division. We have as good a hitting club as any and might even be better than most."

Lum Harris, Houston — "I think it will be a six-team race and maybe seven if Koufax is all right. Milwaukee is going to be tough, but I like Cincinnati real well."

Casey Stengel, New York — "The Mets have a good chance to climb out of tenth place. We have first-division men at first, second, shortstop, left field and in throwing at catcher."

"All in all, there's more of a chance for good things to happen. As for the pennant race, Cincinnati could provide a big surprise by taking it."

NCAA HAS POWER TO CHECK COACHES WHO HEDP PROS

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It's official now — the NCAA has the power to crack down on moonlighting by college football coaches, paid for providing information and steering players to the pros.

The coaches can go on providing scouting reports and helping them in other ways, but if they receive any compensation "directly or indirectly," their school would be subjected to NCAA enforcement.

The case would go to the infractions committee which could put the school on probation, prohibiting its participation in bowl games — or in the case of basketball — the national tournament.

All pro sports are covered in the new legislation. In a mail referendum NCAA members voted 132 to 2 in favor of subjecting member schools to enforcement if any staff member violates the unethical conduct article of the NCAA constitution. The article has been in the constitution since 1959, but no enforcement was provided.

The NCAA council, which ends a three-day meeting here today, disclosed results of the referendum Saturday. Interpreting the phrase on direct or indirect compensation, the council ruled this means no tangible gifts, Christmas presents or gratuity whatsoever from any pro club or group.

The referendum was touched off last December by premature signings of college football players, by the use of undated contracts.

CBS SPONSORED CHRISTMAS BOWL REJECTED BY NCAA

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A proposed Christmas Day football bowl game with Columbia Broadcasting System as sponsor was rejected Sunday by the NCAA Extra Events Committee.

The proposed Santa Claus Bowl was applied for in January at the NCAA convention in Chicago. The committee in rejecting the proposal, established qualifications for all future bowl game sponsorships. Its new rule reads:

"Certification for any new post-season bowl games shall be restricted to those operations sponsored by local non-profit, charitable or educational organizations."

The committee explained all present operations are local and non-profit, while CBS is a commercial firm. In a separate action, the committee banned all Christmas Day games.

Stan Bates of Washington State, committee chairman, said the rulings weren't made just to reject the CBS application.

"It wasn't the only application," he said. "A definition was needed."

BUY ONE SURE-GRIP TRACTOR TIRE AT OUR EVERYDAY PRICE—AND JUST HALF THAT PRICE FOR YOUR SECOND SURE-GRIP

Sure-Grip is guaranteed to outwear and outperform all other tractor tires in its price class!

Sure-Grip is guaranteed . . . One—to give better field traction and less tread wear than any other replacement rear tractor tire in the Sure Grip price class, when used under similar conditions and for a like period of time.

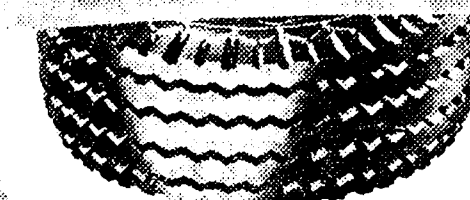

If within 60 days from date of purchase your Sure-Grip does not meet these standards your Goodyear Dealer or Service Store, provided the tires are returned within 90 days from date of purchase, will either refund in cash any payment made or allow the amount paid as full credit on any other Goodyear rear tractor tires. This guarantee excludes comparison with Goodyear Super-Torques and Special Purpose rear tractor tires. Two—against defects in workmanship and material for the life of the tire.

Should failure occur under this part of our guarantee, allowance will be made on a new tire of the same size and type based on tread depth remaining and current "Goodyear Price."

Oldest Tavern Changes Hands

The oldest liquor-tavern license in the state of Illinois changed hands, Monday.

The Steele Bros., at 221 N. Sandy street since 1934, have sold the business to Harold and Stanley Fernandes.

The building, with the entrance in mosaic tile announcing "George's Place" is still owned by George Ferreria, 323 East Morgan street, now 94 years old.

The Steele tavern, known for miles around for its liveliness, was begun by three Nortonville boys: Raymond, who now lives at 650 North Main street; Ralph, who died in 1956, and John Howard—everybody knows him as "Boots"—who lives at 612 North East street.

Some of their employees were fabulous characters. Wayne Joseph Kitchen, who was killed when his automobile went out of control near Curran in 1950, was generally considered the best bartender in the country. He could keep 50 to 100 people drinking and satisfied.

Hearty luncheons for the working men were a feature of the tavern, especially during the 14 years Bertha Mae Williams presided in the kitchen. She died last December.

Emil A. Turner, president of the Jacksonville Bartenders' Local 630, has been tending bar there for the past 14 years and he will continue on with the Fernandes Bros.

"Boots" Steele and Leo Bahan, 410 E. Morton avenue, are the oldest unit bartenders in the city. Both were charter members when the local was organized in 1935 by Edward Pallbearers were W.F. Holt, U.F. Foster, R.L. Hill, R.L. Kesinger, C.W. Quigg and H.D. Brockhouse. Interment was made in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery at Canton, Ill. Personnel from Illinois Power Company attended the services in a group.

AF and AM Lodge of Winchester conducted rites at the funeral home Saturday night. Officiating were: W.M., M.W. Kehart; secretary, James E. Riggs and chaplain, Burl Merriman.

Fire Guts Home At Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE — Fire destroyed the interior of the four room residence at 807 South Washington Street of Mr. and Mrs. Abbie Woolsey Friday evening at nine thirty o'clock.

All members of the family were away from home when the fire occurred. He was at his place of employment in the Alton vicinity and Mrs. Woolsey and their children were visiting relatives.

The fire was discovered by a passing motorist who reported the situation, and the Jerseyville Fire Department responded to the call.

The fire inside the dwelling had practically gutted the place before it was discovered. All of the furniture, bedding and clothing were destroyed and the entire interior of the house was destroyed.

The cause of the fire had not been definitely announced up to Saturday evening, but firemen at the scene indicated it had probably emanated from the furnace.

CADEMY PROMOTES BERNARD DEVOY

Cadet Bernard DeVoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne DeVoy, 1212 South Clay avenue, was promoted to the rank of cadet sergeant at Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo.

Three Injured In Collision On Gravel Road

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in a two car collision on the Lake Jacksonville Road three and a half miles southeast of the city at 1:20 Sunday afternoon.

Treated at Passavant Hospital and released was the driver of one of the cars, thirty-two year old John Allan, 833 South Clay and a passenger in the Allan car, Floyd Allan, 74, 101 Havendale Drive. Another passenger in the Allan car, Edna Allan, 26, was taken to Passavant for treatment and remained as a patient. Two Allan children, Mitch 4, and Penny Sue 7, were not injured.

State Police said that Allan was driving north on the gravel road and collided with a south-bound car driven by Charles J. Newport, 19, of 1525 West College. The vehicles collided head-on at the crest of a hill. Both were towed to local garages.
